MILWAUKEE (June 11, 2019) — U.S. employers are reporting the strongest nationwide hiring intentions in 13 years at +21%, according to the Q3 2019 ManpowerGroup (NYSE: MAN) Employment Outlook Survey.* The last time the survey of more than 11,500 employers reported an Outlook as high as +21% was in Q3 2006. For the coming quarter in Utah, employers expect to hire at a healthy pace.

"At a time of record low unemployment and employer optimism at levels we haven't seen since the mid-2000s, we need to do more to connect people to jobs if we're going to sustain economic growth," said Becky Frankiewicz, President of ManpowerGroup North America. "With such strong competition for talent, skilled workers are choosing when, where and how they work. We find jobs for 275,000 workers every year and know flexibility, access to childcare and clear career paths are especially attractive benefits to women and men. To find and retain top talent, the best companies are offering holistic benefits packages with accelerated training programs and opportunities to learn, earn more and move up so employees have the skills for jobs today and tomorrow."

Among employers surveyed, 28 percent plan to hire more employees from July through September. This number is offset by the 4 percent that plan to reduce payrolls, while 67 percent of employers expect to maintain current staff levels and 1 percent indicate they are not sure of their hiring plans. This yields a Net Employment Outlook* (NEO) of 24%.

"Utah employers have reported a stable hiring pace compared to Q2 2019 when the Net Employment Outlook was 24%," said Frank Armendariz, spokesperson for Manpower, a ManpowerGroup brand. "Compared to this time last year, hiring activity has picked up when the Outlook was 21%."
