54% of companies globally report talent shortages, the highest in over a decade. With such an acute talent shortage, employers are challenged with catering to the needs and desires of an increasingly in-demand workforce while others are trying to do the same. To be successful, they need to understand what workers want as part of a holistic talent strategy.

Difficulty Filling Roles by Company Size

- Large companies (250+ employees) have the most difficulty filling roles; followed by medium (50-249 employees), small (10-249 employees) and micro (less than 10 employees).

What Workers Want

Get it right the first time. What attracts workers to an organization can also be what engages and makes them stay. When competition for talent and skills is so acute, getting it right up front brings return on investment for the long term. Globally, these are the top five needs and desires that are non-negotiables for all workers.

1. Challenging work in the form of education, experience and exposure
2. Flexibility and control over calendar is a must and contributes to worker wellbeing
3. Personalized career insight, driven from data and assessment
4. No spoiler alert necessary: Pay always matters – but how it’s delivered matters more
5. Purpose is a must. Workers want to take pride in what they do and who they work for

A Holistic Talent Strategy

Winning in the digital age demands faster, more targeted approaches than ever before. To meet the needs of today’s in-demand talent, an effective talent strategy should comprise a mix of four key elements: Build, Buy, Borrow and Bridge.
