Katie Milbeck

Senior Manager, Innovation Incubator, Brady Corp.

Katie Milbeck has worked in R&D at Brady Corp. for more than 16 years. While attending college at the University of Iowa, Katie held both internship and co-op positions on the Brady systems engineering team. After graduation, she was hired as a Project Engineer and worked on the systems team in various positions, including engineering and program management roles.

In the summer of 2015, Katie transitioned to a management role on the IDS software team, managing a portion of the Brady safety software platform. In spring of 2018, she accepted the role of Senior Manager, Innovation Incubator, driving Brady's long-term innovation strategies.
